Tempo in Motion is pleased to announce that Mike Boyko, co-founder of Tempo in Motion, is now available for consultation at Art Sellinger's Power Golf facility in Dallas, TX. Tempo in Motion is a proven, state of the art tool that instantly helps every golfer, at every level, find and improve their personal swing tempo and rhythm. Boyko will analyze golfers' swings and customize his rhythm-based system to provide a unique, auditory training program designed to groove every golfer's best swing, every time. As a prominent touring rock drummer and top athlete, Boyko knows about rhythm and tempo, and has developed a method to quickly and easily teach optimal, personalized swing tempo and rhythm to others.

Boyko has successfully used his system of rhythm assessment to assist athletes of all kinds, from Tour pro golfers to Olympic figure skaters and professional baseball players. "Professional athletes know that music and rhythm have the power to improve performance. Using the most current research, we developed an original system that demonstrably improves athletic performance by supporting the perfect, repeatable motion through simple, pleasurable training."

Beginning in February, golfers can meet with Boyko to customize their own swing tempo while at the same time explore Sellinger's selection of elite equipment and customizing services. Sellinger and Boyko are teaming up to provide golfers with the highest level of performance excellence. The combination of Boyko's specialized training system and Sellinger's precision equipment, both crafted to an athlete's unique needs, can fine-tune every golfer's game.
